Labeling

Every package of food must have the following information on its label:

- The common and usual name of the product.
- The name and address of the manufacturer or distributor.
- The net weight.
- A list of ingredients in the order of their prevalence.

Information required by law must be printed in type of sufficient size and prominence to be easily read under the normal conditions of sale and display. This information should be printed on the main part of the label in a color that contrasts with its background.

This information must be in English.

The term "package" means any food that has been put into a bottle, can, carton, bag, or secure wrapper, by either a food establishment or a food processing plant, before it is offered for wholesale or retail sale.
